This is probably a ruse of the Douglasites, who desire to keep the honest numbers of that faction away from every place where they would be inoculated by Republican truth. Mr. Clay is filling the appointments made for him by the Central Committee. He expects to fill them all; and he will certainly be at DeKalb, if alive and well, to-morrow.

The week has opened well and most promis ingly with the great exhibition at the Wigwam The attendance of vizitors yesterday was large than on any preceding day, and lest evening We are g'ad to see that the public are prop erly appreciating this local display of the industrial and fine arts, and that the Mechanics astitute are to be the gainers from the succ have seen it, and held as it is in the Wigwam, by with articles of interest and value, causes ever visitor to be loud in praise of the same. Our notes of the Fair we continue, taking up almost at random such features and articles a attract our attention. The Machine De-partment is especially interesting, and attracts large crowds of visitors. Some of the articles we have already referred to. Prominent in interest as of Chicago invention and manufacture, is Hurlbut & Doane's Patent Stave Sawing Machine, in operation at the southern end of the han. It is greater and deserving of much credit to the inventors. Its utility cannot but present itself to every one who sees it in operation. It saws the stare from the bolt, to any desired curve and thick the nutility the nutside in the most finished ness, rounding the outside in the most finis and perfect manner at one operation, with the tmost precision and rapidity, at the rate of bout fifteen staves per minute, making a savngof more than 38 per cent, over the old meth d of riving out and dressing by hand. It is truly a great labor-saving machine. It will do the work of more than ten men, and in a very ducing more than three times the amount of work than can be done with the Cylinder and tion of saving in timber. One of the fine tight barrels we ever saw was exhibited by up into a barrel on the spot. We also notice a very ingenious machine for rounding barrel heading, cutting both edges at one operation; chine for finishing both ends of the stave at the same time. These machines are all of Chicago manufacture, and are one of the most attract-ookers on. They will be operated each day and evening till the Fair closes, and Mr. Don informs us will be exhibited at the Cincinns and St. Louis Fairs.

We have already stated that the motor of the mechanical department is a beautiful twenty horse-power engine exhibited by Messrs. Wal-worth, Hubbard & Co., of No. 181 Lake St. It is a superb piece of Mechanism, perfectly nois ess in its working, and universally admired for a little family of appliances and distinct arti

ive features on exhibition. The stave machine is kept in operation most of the time, affording much satisfaction to the practical men who are Attached to the boiler, which is on the alley, is Ashoroft's Low Water Detector, one of the Assorof's Low Water Detectr, one of the most complete and infallible gnards ever put on duty. It is simply a wrought iron pipe passed through the top of the boiler and reaching just below the point where it is desired to naintain the surface of the water. The top of the pipe is surmounted by a spherical air cham er of east iron. Just below this chamber short arm of pipe terminates in a small steam whistle. The air-chamber is elevated abou three feet above the boiler. The operation of the Detector is as follows: When the lower nd of the pipe is as it should be, below the wat is so maintained until the water by carelessness is suffered to get below the pipe, when a rush of hot steam takes its place. The access to the short arm of pipe ending in a steam whistle is closed with a justible safety plug, the water kept cooled by the air without did not

terior of the boiler, its water, steam and pressure are kept exactly indicated.

Attached to the engine is Whittier's Improved
Fun Eigulators, in which the varying resistance offered by the air to revolving iron fans is in a most admirable manner made to operate on a lever and close or open the throttle valve. This is frequently shown at the Pair. Say a dozen machines are in operation, sawing grinding quartz, shelling corn, cutting staves, &c., &c., The next minute half of these are thrown of The next minute half of them are thrown off. The released power would drive the remainder at a fearful rate, but the slightest accelleration of the regulator fans increases the resistance of the air, raises the lever, closes the throttle, and the beautiful engine goes steadily on as

Just beside the engine is at work what some practical mechanics in our hearing pronounce the gem of the fair. It is Worthington's Steam Pump, a beautiful pair of twins born of steam power. It may best and briefly be described as two pistons working side by side and each opening the valve for the other, and both work-ing quietly and noiselessly and with a will in the direction of all a steam pump can do. It never "gets on its centre," never gets out of order by its simplicity, and as a steam pump, or engine pump, or a fire engine, or for any of the multifarious uses to which steam pumps can be applied, it is probably the best in uze, a commendation one can rarely give in notes of a Fair, but which will not be denied by uninterested parties to this beautiful mechanical tri-umph.

same family, the Worthington Water Meter. This machine measures with great accuracy the quantity of water or other fluid passing kirough it. It is used by water works corporations to determine the amount of water used by different consumers; and by manufacturers for measuring oil or other liquids into barrels or tanks. Every meter can be propelled by the breath, or by water poured into it from an open vessel. Three inches head is therefore a full allowance. It has a perfectly positive motion, with nothing like a disposition to step and refuse to start. Every gallon of water drawn through it, must produce a corresponding and registered motion in the meter. It requires no oil, or occasional adjustment, is nearly frictionless, and yet so well fitted as to run and registered.

market. But here we pause in our notes. The Camp Meeting.
We visited the Camp Meeting on Sunday, and listeners to the sermon at Bisanop Simpson on Sunday morning were probably not less than six thousand, while the whole number in and about the camp would perhaps exceed eight thousand. The day was fine, and the train from this city, at 8 A. M., consisting of ten cars, was crowded, while a shorter train was ran at about 2 P. M., and all through the fore-noon there were constantly arriving, farm wagons and carriages of every description loaded with human occupants. But notwith-standing the large assemblage, the best order prevailed throughout the day, as has been the a source of wonder and congratulation to all upon the ground, that among so large a number of people as were there, no disturbance of any kind abould occur. Sheriff Gray was on the ground with a force of deputies and assist-ants, but their services were not once, up to less, and yet so well fitted as to run and register almost on drops. The general principle on which it acts, is the reciprocation of pistons or plungers; each stroke of which is marked upon the register.

All these constitute a portion of the contributions of Messrs. Walworth, Hubbard & Co., and declare how worthy is their house of the attention and the consultation of all interested in steam motor or fittings. But their list is made yet a longer one by several articles that deserve mention. They have a large display of from pipe and fron and brass steam, water and gas fittings.

Eithey also exhibit Shaw's Gas Stove and Fint Heater, not in operation, however, as the Wigwam is not, during the day, supplied with gas. love with the place.

Could it be otherwise that such people would be else than Republican? The fact corresponds with appearances. Eight-tenths of the whole population are for Lincoln. Of 1,700 voters in Rockford, more than 1,400 are for Old Abe for President. The proportion between the parties among the farmers, is still greater. There are townships where the vote is twenty to one, Republican. The boasting of the Douglas faction of having gained on the Republicans in this sounty, has no be is to support it. It may be true that Douglas will receive a few more votes than were east for Buchanas. Some of the new comers in the county will possibly vote for him. He will also get a few Cathoric Irish votes that were given to Fremont. They the right of Judge Douglas to connect himself with the Catholic Church. It has never ased that he ought not to have his children has never claimed that his sympathies were against the hateful tyronny under which they had so long groated. It has never said that he had not a perfect right to prefer that all the States of the Romish Church should remain vote for him. He will also get a few Cathoic Irish votes that were given to Fremont. They regard him as belonging to the Romish church, and therefore support him. But of the 700 new votes that will be cast by young men who have come of age, and by persons who have takes up a residence since 1856, 600 of them will be thrown for Lincoln and Liberty.

The mass meeting which each party has held measures the relative strength of Lincoln and Douglas in Winnebago. At the Shamneratic gathering there were not to exceed 400 persons suffer his coffers to be drawn upon for the pur-pose of maintaining the Papal Despotism over Italy—to furnish means to hire Irish regiments to bayoust and shoot down Italian people to bayonet and shoot down Iralian people struggling, upon their own soil, for freedom. Upon all these points Democratic journals constantly misrepresent the Press and Tribuna, assuming for it a position which it never has taken, which it never will take. It concedes to Judge Douglas the largest liberty on all these subjects, and it does not complain when, in the exercise of that liberty, he pursues a course of which it cannot approve. All the interest that the Press and Tribuna has in gathering there were not to exceed 400 persons present. The faithful "putly heads" had been well drummed, and all came who could be coaxed to attend, to hear the speech of the "next Govto attend, to near the spector of the "next coveron," as skim milk Allen modestly calls himself. A week afterwards the Republicans met, like an army with banners 15,000 strong, to listen to the fearless Kentucky patriot. Such demonstrations show the relative strength and enthusiasm of parties.

The Wide Awak's formed an organization in Rockford a forthight are and have nearly 400. the interest that the PRESS AND TRIBUNE has in ceived. While it accords to Mr. Douglas all the latitude in opinion and all the freedom in action that he could desire, it only insists that he should not evade the consequences of his acts, through the want of information on the The Wide Awak's formed an organization in Rockford a fortnight ago and have nearly 400 young men enrolled, and half that number are already provided with uniterms and are under drill instruction. The Douglas "Invincibles" numbered 81, all told, at their lest public appearance. Their ranks are recruited from the "rag-tag-and-bob-tail" of the town.

Seanty as is the material which the Republican hosts have to work upon, yet they have abstracted from it a respect-ble number of vides. acts, through the want of information on the part of the people. We submit to our Demo-cratic and Catholic contemporaries that it is not fair or henerable to charge that we are opposed to liberty of conscience, to the right of every man to train his children in whatever religious communion be may choose, or to give of his means toward maintaining the temporal power of the Pops, when we have condemned for the latter, he must also be con-lemned for having donated ten acres of ground near this city to the Baptist College. Says Republican gains in many neighborhoods and iowaships. The Dred Scottiles are making no gains from the Republicans. Where they seem to pick up a vote, is will be found on examinanear this city to the Baptist College. Says the Missouri Republican—a paper which has always been under Catholic influence. "If "the," (Judge Deuglas) "is to be arraigned for "this compliance in behalf of the suffaring head "of the church to which his wife belongs, is "he not equally liable to be hauled over the "coals for his liberal benefictions herestofore "to the Baptists?" Now, this is journalism in its meanest and most contemptible form. We do not propose to hand Judge Douglas over the coals for either act. We may be had the undoubted right to follow his Moeting at Morrison.

[Ourrespondence of the Free and Tribune.]

The campaign is now opening up in White-side. Last evening with no partisonar effort, we had a rousing old-fashioned gathering. Hon. L. N. Araeld of Cook and D. B. McCartnyof Falton gave us a good entertainment.

Mr. Arneld, our candidate for Congress, put in the strong blows in his best style. His delineation of the early life of Honest Old Ate, and the Republicas policy in favor of the Homestead bill, was most fortunate, and many times very eloquent.

"McCariny as a wit," always ready and on hand for a good talk. Our friends should keep his in the field. The Lyrdon band and the Morrison Glee Club and the Morrison Wide Awakes were on hand and made the meeting very pleasant.

This inauguration, so fortunate in its commenomant, will be carried forward energetically. We assure our friends that Whiteside is very sound. Our Republican friends can draw on an liberally and we will meet the draft with bones. Douglas over the coals for either act. We may he had the undoubted right to follow his inclination or his interest in both cases. But as the gift of the Esptists was trumpeted from one and of Inristandom to the other, we object to concealing the other gift from every body except the sealous devotes of the Cathelic Church. Let the one art have the The new party formed in New York, by the Union of the Rump Democracy with the Rump of Know Nothington, is called the "What is It," the name being suggested by the non-descript animal new on exhibition at Barrams's Museum, seemingly a cross between a man and Gener Justice of Massaceuserrs.—Governor Banks has nominated Associate Justice George Tyler Bigelow, as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Shaw.

tial difference, why is the PRESS AND TRIBUNE | MOVEMENTS OF THE PROPLE. so savagely assaults for giving publicity to the benefaction to the Earpe? If the one act is in no respect different from the other, why was not the Press Ard Trinurs condemned with equal severity for making public the contribution to the Baptist College? One would almost fancy that the whole Democratic Press of the country had passed into the hands of the country had passed into the hands of the Jamilta in view of its treatment of this should legislate on the question of slavery.

We say again, as we have often said before, that we take no exception to the religious faith of Judge Doughes nor to his solicitude in behalf of the Papal despotism. We do believe, however, that the destinies of this Protestant government—this government which guarantees liberty of conscience to all men, to the Catholic as well as to the Protestant, ought not to be self-used to a man whose sympathies are not exclusively on the side of capalidate against Coffisherry.

Most Garss roa Liscota.—A correspondent which guarantees liberty of conscience to all men, to the Catholic as well as to the Protestant, ought not to be entrusted to a man whose sympathies are not exclusively on the side of Protestantism—to a man who has the whole Catholic Priesthood and laity at his back. That, we believe, is the sentiment of an overwhelming majority of the people of this country; and that is the reason way the Catholic and Democratic journals so violently assail the Phess and Tribuns for bringing to I ght the facts which seem to establish Judge Douglas' Catholicism beyond successful con-

But never was there a greater misapprehension. The tim has now come for action, and such an uprising never before was witnessed in Northern Illi-nois. The meetings are far larger than those of '56. The people are actuated less by impulse and more by reason. The past four years have educated the popular mind to a truer knowleducated the popular mind to a truer knowledge of the slavery question. People now understand more clearly the designs and degmas of the alaveocrasy. The radical difference between the positions of the two great parties is better comprehended. And the people have become, meanwhile, more attached to the Republican organization, for the sake of its principles. But the Republican party in Winnebago has nearly reached its maximum of relative greatness. It holds in its ranks about 90 per cent. of the whole population. THE VARCHLIGHT PROCESSION.

The torchight procession in the evening was the largest ever seen in this campaign, cellpsing it even the great procession at Springfield. As rear re we could obtain the numbers, there were not less than five thousand torches displayed. The procession owing to some mistake, broke into two parts, and consequently the publish 1 programme was not carried out. As viewed from the Courf House Square, the scene was one of the most imposing we over witnessed. viewed from the Court House Square, the scene was one of the most linposing we ever winessed. At least a dezer full bands of music were in the line, and the whole (quare and every street leading from it, was one blazing move of lines that the whole street leading from it, was one blazing move of the leading from it, was one blazing move of the leading from it, was one blazing move of the leading the without number. The excitement and enthusiaann was of the widest character, beginning any description.

An other procession, speaking was announced at the Wig arm, where Casper Butz addressed a crowdec andience of Germans.

Another meeting was organized in the Court Hou, e yard, and speaking kept up to a late hour by Judge Fowell, Chamberlain of Galesburg, and Owen Lovijoy.

The starting character of the writer as an honorable, high-mind-of greateness, and an enterprising sub an autocamble builder, will give weight to his testimony:

"Da. I. Wirelow Ayra. Dear Sir:—I will with piecesses answer your inquiry relative to the permanency of the cure you made of my throat some two years ago. I had obvenie inflammation of the heart-larguistic I believe you called the disease—and had it for several years. It tied a variety of medicion, with little or no benefit, and when I applied to you I hastly booked for a specify cure, but I was yes a greenbly suspected. I soon recovered entirely, and, could sing, read or halks as well as over and every trace of disease disappeared; and I san most happy to any that up to the present time I have had no return of the disease, and am perfectly well. I regard the period of two years as quite sufficient to warrant my smeahing of the effects of your system of practice as zemanaxiz. It is all you claim far it. Indeed, if I had not been, this period with all the vice studies of climate in Buffalo, exposed as I have often been in the superstandence of an extensive business by the lake would have disalosed the fact.

Henry VII, the victor of Bosworth Field, may be said to a ve four-ded the modern fine, being the first of the Ladors; and he was descended from John of Gaunt, Shakspeare's "time-henoured Lancasier," who, by the way, never saw slixty years; and the Beauforis, through whom he was connected with the royal house, were the consequence of the Duke of Lancasier's intrigue with Katharine Swynford, the first of their number being a bastard.

But then Henry VII. married Elizabeth Plantage of, daughter of Elward IV, and Edward IV, was a lexitimate descendant in the ismale line, of Lonel, Duke of Clarence, an elder brother of John of Gaunt; and he was the true King, a vording to the principles of requising succession. The originator of this novel idea is said to be a firm believe in the practicability and utility of his invention, notwithstanding the fact that, after repeated trials, during which he consumed hundreds of cords of wood, his tower falled to produce the desired effect on the unpropitious heavens, he having been a great sufferer from drought during the entire apring and nummer." MARSHALL & DRURY, of York and Lancaster; and when her great graudson, James VI. became King of Envland, as James I., he had as legitimate a record as you often ere ind in any family of note. But, in 1688-2, the Envish upset the main line again, and established revolutionary sovereigns, in the persons of William and Mary of Orange. When the Act of settlement was passed in 1701, althrescore persons were passed over by Parliament, who had better orans to the succession; and the crown was settled on the Eccircus Sophia and her descendants, the Electress being the youngest child of Elexabeth Shaart, daughter of James I. Indeed, the House of Hanover reigns over Great Britsian through the triumph of principles as revolutionary as those that placed Napoleon III on the French throne, the difference in the two cases being, that in the one the revolution was affected by the a stooracy, and in the other it was a piece of Democratic work; and as against kings, even an aristoracy as democricy. No people have shlown less regard for legitimacy than the English, the house of Lancaster, Tudor, News, and Hanover, and the hast Stuart sovereigs, all reigning in violation of the principles of regular descent. In 1899, in 1485, in 1485, in 1899, in 1879, and in 1714, the English crown was usurped, in the opinion of all legitimates The descendants of Charles I. and James II. were set saids by the Act of Settlement, the makers of that arrangement going back-to the younguis daughter of James I.'s eldest daughter.

It would seem as if the illegitimacy of William I., the Conquetor, placed the stamp of illegitimacy on almost the whole of the toys ty of England, the stream partaking of the fountain. The artiess Arlette was the fountain, and it has been said that the word harlot is derived from her, and she is frequently called Arletta, or Harlotts. It helps to show how strangely human fairs are influenced by commonplace things, that if the Duke of Normandy had never seen the tanner's daughter, or she had had a more virtuous adviser than her reverend uncle proved, there would have her no will make the Conquery, no Norman dominion established in Rayland, and consequently no England, such as the world has some and knows. The whole course of ever is in Christendom, and the fortunes of millions of men through twenty four generations, have been gradually influenced by line simple fact that a wicked elderly gentleman, nicknamed "The Devil" by his contemporaries, was amitten by the charms of a pretty girt, and persuaded or purchased her to sin!
